No. There's not an index... I know everyone wants one but due in part to, for instance, the outrageous number of times I said "roll pin..." it just wasn't feasible. Instead, each project segment has its own content details right where it matters (right at the start of the segment) in addition to what's on these content pages, so flip to the front of the book instead of the back of the book, go to the segment, and you'll be very close to what you're looking for.
